

TEMPERATURE DROPS AFTER SHOWER HERE

Mercury Eight Degrees Lower at Noon Friday Than Previous day; Three Heat Deaths Reported in State; Some Parts Get Heavy Storm

With the temperature eight degrees lower at noon Friday than at the same time Thursday, relief from an intensive heat wave embracing the entire week was observed. Dr. H. R. Clarke, weatherman, reported at noon Friday the temperature was 90 degrees while Thursday at noon it was 98.

The temperature went back to the high mark of 103 degrees Thursday afternoon but was not expected to reach 100 Friday.

Showers fell here during the early evening, and, although the rainfall was light, breezes accompanying it helped make sleeping possible Thursday night. Only .02 of an inch of rain was recorded.

REPORT THREE DEATHS

Three new deaths were added in Ohio bringing the toll to eight as the mercury climbed Thursday afternoon. Showers and high winds were reported in several parts of the state with thousands of dollars in property damage also reported.

At Columbus, fifteen high tension power lines were leveled by the wind, mauling more than a dozen motorists in a sea of fallen wires. Limbs of trees were blown off and left scattered in the streets.

In Lockland, near Cincinnati, the wind razed a dance pavilion and unroofed a small building. Minor property damage from the wind was reported from all sections of Ohio.

DIRECTOR STRICKEN

Two heat deaths occurred at Columbus. Ira Morningstar, 77, of New Carlisle, guest director of the 300-piece All-Ohio boys' band at the Ohio State Fair, collapsed and died from a heart attack superinduced by the heat. Harry Tipton, 78, a gardener, was the second victim there.

At Zanesville, Miss Edith A. Gibbons, 43, a clerk for the Ohio Bell Telephone company, was stricken and died of heart prostration. Five other deaths had been reported Tuesday and Wednesday and the toll stood at eight today.

New summer heat records were set at Columbus, where the mercury climbed to the 99-degree mark. Youngstown reported 100 degrees for a new all-time record for September. Norwalk had a similar temperature.

NEW MARKS

Dayton also had a new September mark with 98 degrees. Other high temperatures included: Cincinnati, 96; Canton, 96; Granville, 96; Lima, 93; Mansfield, 95; Marion, 97; Sidney, 98; and Napoleon, 93.

U. S. Weatherman W. A. Alexander, at Columbus, predicted rain for tonight and tomorrow and said the cool weather would remain at least for a few days.

EAGLE PASS, TEX., Sept. 2.—Swollen by recent rains, the Rio Grande river was at the highest stage on record here today and was within three feet of inundating the main street of the town.

The stream already has reached a stage of 48 feet and is still rising.

Residents of Eagle Pass and Piedras Negras, Mexico, are seeking safety as the flood waters advance into the lower sections of the town. The railroad bridge connecting the two towns already is under water, and should the water rise three more feet the new million dollar bridge will be endangered.

Two buildings already have collapsed as water washed away their foundations.

Although no persons have been reported killed, several are known to be missing.

Safe-crackers Demolish Post Office at Nevada, Village Near Bucyrus.

BUCYRUS, Sept. 2.—A dynamite blast, apparently set off by safe-blowers today completely demolished the postoffice at the village of Nevada near here.

Four men were seen running from the building a few minutes after the explosion shattered the structure. A check-up showed that $75 was missing from the postoffice till.

Authorities expressed the opinion that the blast was the result of a bungled effort to break into the postoffice safe.

The explosion caused a loud detonation and brought the entire populace to the streets in night attire.

Before looting the postoffice, the robbers ransacked a grocery and a tool house of the Pennsylvania railroad and escaped with small amounts of cash. Some of the tools taken from the tool house were believed to have been used in forcing entrance to the postoffice building—a one story structure.

Police said they had been given a good description of the men seen fleeing from the blast-torn postoffice building. A search dragnet was immediately spread throughout Crawford-co.

CONFESSION OF BROTHER ENDS "QUARRY CASE"

Loren Truesdale, 23, Admits Killing Brother and Girl Friend in Lima

FOLLOWED QUARREL

Jealousy Named as Motive, Officers Say

LIMA, Sept. 2.—Loren Ellsworth Truesdale, 23, allegedly confessed slayer of his brother, Earl, 20, and the latter's girl-friend, Thelma Woods, 19, today pleaded not guilty to a charge of first degree murder.

The youth was arraigned in municipal court here.

LIMA, Sept. 2.—The mysterious quarry slaying of Earl Truesdale, 20, and Thelma Woods, 19, one of the most sensational crimes in the annals of Allen-co, were believed solved today by a signed confession which police declared they had received from Loren Ellsworth Truesdale, 23-year-old brother of one of the victims.

According to the confession which county authorities declared the youth made, he beat Earl and Thelma to death with a hammer on the evening of Memorial day, weighted their bodies with rocks and then tossed them into an abandoned stone quarry. The bodies were recovered a week later when the stone quarry was drained.

BLAMES JEALOUSY

Jealousy, officials alleged, prompted the murders. Loren Truesdale told authorities that he killed his younger brother because the latter "had taken several girls from me." Miss Woods met a similar fate when she threatened to report Loren, police allege.

Confession of the youth climaxed several weeks of investigation made by private detectives hired by the county prosecutor's office. Loren admitted the gruesome crimes in the presence of his own father and mother, authorities charged.

Loren related to authorities, it is reported, that he met his brother and Miss Woods on the evening of Memorial day. He suggested that they go for a ride and all climbed into Loren's car.

The trio, according to the story told by Loren, drove to a "speakeasy" where they had several drinks. Then they continued on to the stone quarry.

HAD ARGUMENT

An argument between Loren and his younger brother over Miss Woods followed, the confession read. Loren took a hammer from the car and struck his brother with it, he admitted to police, they said.

POLICE CHASE GANG OF 300

Demonstrators at Warren Steel Plant Attempt To Force General Strike.

WARREN, Sept. 2.—Descending upon the demonstrators with clubs, a dozen policemen and deputies today routed 300 men who had been picketing the Republic Steel company plant here, attempting to influence plant workers to strike because of a rumored pay cut.

Seven men, including two organizers of the Metal and Steel Workers Industrial union, were arrested by police on charges of intoxicated and disorderly conduct. The two taken into custody as organizers of the union gave their names as A. L. Lewis, 26, of Sharon, Pa., and Joe Dally, of McKeesport, Pa.

Police were called to scatter the mob by company officials when the latter declared the pickets were radicals and Communists trying to prevent the regular employees from entering the mill with the aim of causing a general strike. The pickets gathered at the entrance of the plant yesterday carrying banners and shouting to the workers "Strike on—Don't Work." As they approached the mill the banners bore threats that a 16-1-2 per cent pay cut was to be placed into effect yesterday.

FARMERS OF OHIO CONFERENCE ON STRIKING

Bowling Green Scene of Mass Meeting This Afternoon; Reno Present

TO DISCUSS MOVE

Truce In Middlewest Is Thought Broken

BOWLING GREEN, Sept. 2.—Farmers from throughout northwestern Ohio and other scattered sections of the state began arriving in Bowling Green today for a mass meeting to discuss the feasibility of a farm produce strike similar to the one sponsored by the National Farmers' Holiday association in Iowa, South Dakota, Nebraska and other western states.

Indications were that the rally would be one of the largest of its kind in the history of Ohio. One of the attractions of the meeting was the scheduled appearance of Milo Reno, president of the National Farmers' Association, who is expected to urge the formation of an organization designed to secure higher prices for Ohio farm products.

FAVOR IS SEEN

Sentiment in favor of the calling of a food-striking strike was noted among early arrivals for the rally. Some were dubious, however, of the feasibility of such a move, fearing that in the end a strike might prove more harmful than beneficial.

All, however, were interested in this interest leaders hoped to sway approval of the strike move. The address of Reno was scheduled to be given this afternoon at city park here. Arrangements have been made to take care of its flow crowd. Sponsors of the event. (Continued on Page Three)

WHITE READY FOR ASSEMBLY

Cancels Engagements To Prepare For Special Session Late In Month.

COLUMBUS, Sept. 2.—Instructing secretaries to cancel all his out-of-town engagements for next week, Governor George White today announced that the special salary-cutting session of the 80th general assembly will be called to meet here sometime "within the last two weeks of September."

Busy with details of the approaching session, the governor will remain at his desk conferring with Commerce Director Theodore Tangemann, Finance Director Edward L. Bevis and other cabinet members.

FARM RELIEF

The governor expressed the hope that the special session, at which farm relief also is to be discussed, will be limited to three or four days.

"Reasonable speed" will be demanded of the legislators in carrying out a program of legislation cutting salaries of state employees, county officials and election officials, the governor said. A total of $4,000,000 for the biennium is expected to be slashed from public salaries by action of the assembly. In addition to salary-cutting, the governor's own recommendations for action by the special session are expected to include:

1. Legislation to permit building and loan associations to borrow from the reconstruction Finance Corporation and thus afford relief to Ohio depositors.

2. Legislation to give relief to farm owners burdened with highway taxes which were levied before the state tax on gasoline for highway building purposes was enacted.

GAS FIGHT ON

COLUMBUS, Sept. 2.—Dismissal of the petition of the City of Cleveland asking for a temporary emergency gas rate for consumers there pending completion of an investigation was requested today in a motion filed with the state utilities commission by the East Ohio Gas company, of Cleveland.

Walker Resigns, Planning To Again Run For Office; Roosevelt Silent On Act

Resignation Stirs Politics

Mayor James J. Walker of New York City, (shown above) created a sensation late Thursday when he quit his post while outer proceedings were being heard before Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt on charges brought by the Hofstadter committee headed by Samuel Seabury.

Governor Not To Answer Walker

ALBANY, N. Y., Sept. 2.—Without answering the charges made by James J. Walker in resigning as mayor of New York that he had received an "unfair and un-American trial," Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, formally terminated the Walker ouster hearing at 12:50, Eastern Standard Time this afternoon.

Only six spectators and a handful of reporters were present in the executive chamber when the Governor brought one of the most sensational and dramatic hearings in the capital history to a drab end.

Governor Roosevelt made it plain after he had ended the hearing that he would have no comment—now or later—on any of the charges made by Walker that the hearing had been turned into "a travesty, a mock trial" and that he (Walker) had not been accorded a fair trial.

GAS FIGHT ON

COLUMBUS, Sept. 2.—Dismissal of the petition of the City of Cleveland asking for a temporary, emergency gas rate for consumers there pending completion of an investigation was requested today in a motion filed with the state utilities commission by the East Ohio Gas Company, of Cleveland.

A hearing on the motion was set for Sept. 17.

ATTEND AIR MEET

Durward Dowden and Howard Stevenson, officials of the local chapter of the National Aeronautic association, are attending the air races at Cleveland.

"They went to Toledo, by plane with Homer Baughn, then by automobile to Cleveland."

BANDITS SLAIN IN GUN FIGHT

Two Men Killed, One Seriously Hurt; Policeman Paralyzed By Bullet.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Two bandits one of whom was identified by the police as Charles Kelley, 45, of Philadelphia, were killed and a third wounded and two policemen and a civilian were shot during a gun fight when the authorities interrupted an attempt by four armed men to hold up the pawn shop of George S. Thain in Brooklyn today. The body of the other dead bandit was not identified.

The wounded bandit was said by the police to be William Dunn, 20, of Brooklyn. He was shot three times and is in a critical condition. The fourth bandit escaped.

Patrolman Raffael Malfroite, 29, was shot in the left leg. Patrolman Peter F. DeCarlo was shot in the neck and the bullet was detected to the spine causing paralysis.

The bystander who was shot in the left leg was Piscario Munzio, 60, of Brooklyn. After treatment at the scene he went home, his condition not being regarded as serious.

BARR BOY SHOWS IMPROVEMENT

The condition of Arnold Barr, aged 6, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Barr, who suffered a brain concussion when he fell from a ladder to a cement garage floor at the home of his grandfather, Charles U. Barr, near Cedar Hill, was reported improved at Bergher hospital.

The child regained consciousness at 5 p. m. Thursday. An X-ray picture disclosed that he did not suffer from a fractured skull.

ASHVILLE'S MAYOR WARNS TRAFFIC

Following the action of Mayor B. T. Hedges in assailing traffic conditions, Mayor E. E. Fraun-felter of Ashville, has issued a proclamation covering a number of traffic evils.

He plans to have drivers of one-eyed autos, reckless operators of cars and drivers of autos making unnecessary noise arrested. He will fine them heavily, he says.

CREAMERY FACTS TOLD ROTARIANS

Giving facts that proved the importance of dairy products to the farmer, Reed Shaffer, manager of the Pickaway Dairy, gave an interesting talk before the Rotary Club Thursday. Speaking from his experience in the local plant he said that last year over $300,000 was paid to farmers in this vicinity for their products. There are 18 employees working at the plant where over 750,000 pounds of butter last year was produced.

"It is our desire to always maintain quality," he stated, "and we can feel justly proud since we have taken one first, five seconds and one third prize at the Ohio State Fair during the past seven years."

It was announced that Dr. Herbert Martin will be the speaker at the meeting next Thursday.

GER GRIDDERS TO WORK OUT MONDAY

Will to Lead Squad Which is Expected to Go Places This Year

The jump-clump of cleats against gridiron turf will resound Monday at the high school gridiron at the hands of Coach Herbert Holz, who is expected to lead the Tiger team to a successful season.

In a letter to 50 probable candidates, Gaines Hill, captain of this year's Tiger eleven, has asked them to reconsecrate themselves and be ready to go for the first practice sessions.

Coach Herbert Holz is expected to arrive here this afternoon or Saturday and make preparations for the first work-out. It is expected that the first session will be held Monday afternoon, however the local mentor may follow the example of Coach Bill Zwick of Grandview and hold practices every morning at 6 o'clock until after the heat wave.

Levinson Loses Nod To Risko

CLEVELAND, Sept. 2.—King Levinson prepared to return to his native Chicago today, a sadder, albeit little wiser man. The erstwhile fish salesman was still in the dark concerning two perplexing problems: (1) Why was Johnny Risko awarded the decision over him? and (2) how does one manage to get inside the "rubber man's" defense? Had the Kingfish solved the latter problem, before he stepped into the stadium ring last night, the chances are the first question would no longer puzzle him. Chicago's pet heavyweight would have won the 12-round battle.

CREAVY STILL SEEKS TITLE

Ex-Caddy Rallies To Win; Dudley Appears Menace In P. G. A. Meet.

ST. PAUL, Minn., Sept. 2.—Having demonstrated his cool ability to meet and overcome a crisis, Tom Creavy, Albany's ex-caddy, was still in possession of his citadel of championship today as the Professional Golfers' association tournament swung into the quarter-final stage.

Storming that citadel with the lust for Creavy's crown glowing brighter in their eyes were seven worthy links warriors, survivors of many second round skirmishes.

All of the resourcefulness at his command was summoned up by champion Creavy to avert disaster and narrowly avoid involuntary abdication of his throne yesterday. Back from the shadow of defeat he came to head off a winning challenger, Johnny Perelli of San Francisco, and eke out a hard-earned victory by the margin of one stroke.

GOLDEN DEFEATED

Second round play over the Keller fee course yielded one big surprise, the ousting of John Golden of Norton, Conn., from further participation in the meet. After eliminating Walter Hagen in a memorable 48-hole encounter Wednesday, the Connecticut star suffered defeat at the hands of Al Collins of Kansas. The town's triumph elevated him to the leadership of the dark horse brigade.

Ed Dudley loomed as the big menace as the result of his masterful exhibition yesterday in thumping Henry Picard of Charleston, S. C., right off the course with a 10 and 9 victory. He registered 14 one-putt greens.

Hardly less impressive was Dutra's 5 and 3 win over Reggie Myles of Ashland, O. The Ohio player, however, put up a hard battle.

Crickshank's emergence to the quarter-finals was brought about at the expense of Eddie Bird, of Pittsburgh whose unfortunate puts sent him to defeat by a 3 and 1 count.

Others who survived the second round were Frank Walsh of Chicago who defeated Gene Kunes of Hartford, Conn., 9 and 8; Ralph Stonehouse of Indianapolis who bested John Kinder, Caldwell, N. J., 3 and 2; and Herman Barron, Port Chester, N. Y., who eliminated Abe Espinosa, Chicago, one up in an overtime 38-hole contest today. Dutra with Barron; Dudley with Collins; and Crickshank with Walsh.

BIRD HOPES GONE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 2.—Hopes of the Columbus Red Birds for an American Association pennant were further dashed on the rocks today by a double-barreled defeat handed to them by the Kansas City Blues.

In the first game of yesterday's double-header, the Kaws trailed until the ninth inning, then broke through Bill Lee's pitching, scored three runs and won, 2 to 1.

In the nightcap, the Blues hammered the offerings of Grabowski, Blake and Weibert, Columbus hurlers, to pile up a huge lead in the early innings and walked away with the battle, 13 to 5.

Lee did some masterful hurting until the fatal ninth of the first game. The Birds broke the scoreless tie in the seventh by counting two against "Hobo" Crason, Kaws hurler. One man was down in the ninth when Lee cracked and allowed the Blues to put on the winning spree.

The last game was a slug-fest and a one-sided one.

Topped Qualifiers

OHIO FARMERS

ing here said, they expected delegations from practically every county in the state.

Should a farm produce strike be called in Ohio, according to leaders of the movement, the flow of food would be stopped to city markets until higher prices have been forced. Inasmuch as the movement appeared to be stronger in the northwestern section of the state than elsewhere, Toledo would probably bear the brunt of the strike efforts.

Sponsors of the movement here declared that it would be conducted peacefully.

"No violence will be tolerated whatsoever," Morris Self, of Bowling Green, one of the sponsors of the meeting declared.

The meeting here today was expected to be more in the nature of a round-table discussion of the feasibility of a food-selling strike.

Decision as to whether such a strike will be called will probably not be made until a later date and after the delegations attending the meeting here have discussed the matter with farmers in their own neighborhoods throughout the state.

CHEROKEE, Ia., Sept. 2.—The farm strike truce, ordered by national headquarters of the Holiday movement, was ignored today by local strikers throughout western Iowa as their leaders demanded concessions from the authorities before abandoning picketing until after the governors' conference at Sioux City, Sept. 9.

An army of 500 pickets encircled this town, halting all movement of farm produce. Its leaders demand that county authorities promptly arrest the band of men, who shot down twelve farmers and two boys on highways outside the town Tuesday night. They declared the blockade here would be continued until the marauders were in jail.

A second army of 400 farmers blocked the great east and west highway leading into Sioux City, 66 miles south of here.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—A farmers' strike such as that now in progress in the middle west was threatened today in Suffolk-co by potato growers.

Prices for the tubers dropped to 40 cents per 100 pounds, which farmers said, was 20 cents less than the cost of production.

To force prices up, they will consider strike measures tonight at a meeting in Riverhead, N. Y.

PLAN MEET OF 37TH DIVISION

Veterans To Gather in Canton For Three Days Beginning Saturday.

CANTON, Sept. 2.—Approximately 4000 veterans and members of the 37th Division, A. E. F. Veterans Association and their families are expected to attend the annual convention of the organization which meets in this city on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, September 3, 4 and 5th, according to reservations made through the Chamber of Commerce and association officials.

The three day convention will open Saturday with an address of welcome by Mayor James Secome, a 37th Division Veteran, on Sunday Saturday will be devoted to unit reunions and reestablishment of acquaintances made during the last convention at Montgomery, Ala., where the division dedicated a memorial on the camp site last year.

HOLD MEMORIAL

Memorial services will be held Sunday at the tomb of former President William McKinley, following a parade which will start the march to the tomb at 1:30 p. m. Judge Thomas H. Morrow, president of the association will preside at the memorial services and following the invocation by the Rev. J. A. O'Connor, Chaplain of the 136th Field Artillery, General Charles Dick, and Major Harry F. MacLane will speak. Governor George White, will address the gathering at the conclusion of the services.

On Monday the annual business meeting of the organization will be held with President Morrow presiding, and then will follow the election of officers for the coming year, and the selection of a convention city for 1933. Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Toledo, Akron and several other cities in the state are bidding for the convention.

President Morrow, in speaking of the coming convention said that members of the 37th Division A. E. F. Veterans Association have found it profitable to become affiliated with an organization composed of men who served side by side in France and Belgium—men who saw the same sights and heard the same sounds, and urged a great number of chapters throughout the state of Ohio wherever 37th Division veterans are located.

DERBY

The twenty seventh Gilliland Reunion was held at Shelter House No. 5 Griggs Dam near Columbus August 28. About ninety members of the family were present.

The following officers were re-elected: Mrs. Alma Hays, President; John Gilliland, Vice President; Arma Kirven, Secretary; Farmer Morton Treasurer and Ernest Hill and Letitia Campbell Historians. Seven members have attended all twenty seven reunions, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bartlett, Mrs. Gladys Jennings, Mrs. May Hill, Mrs. Nelle Baughman, Mrs. Louis Parker and Mr. Walter Graham.

There were two births reported, Joanne Turner of Atlanta and Caroline Sue Blessing of Mt. Sterling. There were no deaths or marriages reported. The reunion will be held at the same place next year. Among those from a distance were Mr. John Blessing of Cincinnati; Homer Yates and family of Dayton; Clarence Gilliland and family of Centerburg; Harry Parker and family and Charles Parker of Magnolia.

Mr. and Mrs. Erough Graham and daughters spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ira Loston of Orient. Mr. and Mrs. Fern Floy are moving to the Blaine property where they formerly resided for several years.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Parker and sons, Harry and Gene and Mr. Charles Parker of Magnolia are guests of Mrs. Alma Hays.

More Moratoriums?

Visiting the United States under the incognito of "Professor Clarence Skinner," Montague Norman, governor of the Bank of England, is believed on a secret mission, to do with war debts, arising out of the recent "gentlemen's agreement" at Lausanne. It is significant that although Great Britain is due to resume payment of war debts on December 15, no provision has been made for such payment in the British budget.

would expire December 31, 1933. He was finishing his second term as mayor.

His resignation was addressed to Michael J. Cruise, city clerk, and read as follows:

"I hereby resign as mayor of the City of New York, the resignation to take effect immediately."

CAUSES SENSATION

It was made public at City Hall at 10 o'clock last night and created a sensation.

The mayor's resignation was decided upon after a long conference at his hotel, the Mayfair House, with his chief counsel, John J. Curtin, who defended him before Governor Roosevelt.

Governor Roosevelt had "nothing to say" concerning Walker's arrangement of his conduct of the removal proceedings but it was expected he would issue a formal statement today.

Seabury, however, took occasion to issue a sharp attack on the retiring mayor. He said:

"The charges against the mayor were fully proved and corroborated in many instances by the documentary evidence which was undisputed and by the mayor's admissions."

The mayor's resignation in the face of this record is equivalent to a confession of guilt. No intelligent person will be misled by the mayor's attempt to substitute for a defense an assault upon the good faith and the motives of the legally constituted authority to review his acts while in office.

It is highly significant that this excuse is availed of by the mayor in the eve of the Governor's inquiry into the relations of the mayor and his fugitive agent, Russell T. Sherwood.

Seabury seemed pleased at the news of Walker's resignation. He smoked a pipe contentedly as he gave the reporters his statement at his town house in East 62nd street.

and when Earl moved, he hit him with the hammer twice more, the youth confessed. Later, officials quoted Loren as saying, Miss Woods threatened to report him and he also killed her.

Weighting their bodies with stones, he threw them into the quarry, according to his questioners. He went home and was not worried over his act, he was quoted as saying. He told police that he planned to confess if anyone else was convicted of the crime.

Loren Truesdale was questioned several times in connection with his brother's death and was taken into custody when police learned that he was unable to account for his whereabouts on the evening of the slaying. He finally broke down and confessed, authorities claimed, after he had been grilled continuously for a night and a day.

He is being held in the county jail here and authorities declared that he would be held for action of the grand jury.

REPEATS DETAILS

Authorities said that Loren was reluctant to talk at first insisting that "I might have killed Earl but I don't remember." He broke down later and calmly repeated details of the killings.

The case several times flared up into an overnight sensation when inmates of penal institutions in the state confessed to the crimes. All later repudiated their confession, however, and declared that they were made so that they could get a "holiday" from the prison where they are serving terms.

Ed. Dudley loomed as the big menace as the result of his masterful exhibition yesterday in thumping Henry Picard of Charleston, S. C., right off the course with a 10 and 9 victory. He registered 14 one-putts greens.

Hardly less impressive was Dutra's 5 and 3 win over Reggie Myles of Ashland, O. The Ohio player, however, put up a hard battle.

Cruikshank's emergence to the quarter-finals was brought about at the expense of Vincent Eldred, of Pittsburgh whose unfortunate putts sent him to defeat by a 3 and 1 count.

Others who survived the second round were Frank Walsh of Chicago who defeated Gene Kunes of Hartford, Conn., 9 and 8; Ralph Stonehouse of Indianapolis who bested John Kinder, Caldwell, N. J., 3 and 2; and Herman Barron, Port Chester, N. Y., who eliminated Abe Espinosa, Chicago, one up in an overtime 38-hole contest.

Creavy clashes with Stonehouse today; Dutra with Barron; Dudley with Collins; and Cruikshank with Walsh.

BIRD HOPES GONE

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 2.—Hopes of the Columbus Red Birds for an American Association pennant were further dashed on the rocks today by a double-barreled defeat handed to them by the Kansas City Blues.

In the first game of yesterday's double-header, the Kaws trailed until the ninth inning, then broke through Bill Lee's pitching, scored three runs and won, 10 to 2.

In the nightcap, the Blues hammered the offerings of Grabowski, Blake and Weiner, Columbus hurlers, to pile up a huge lead in the early innings and walked away with the battle, 13 to 5.

Lee did some masterful hurling until the fatal ninth of the first game. The Birds broke the scoreless tie in the seventh by counting two against "Hobo" Crason, Kaw hurler. One man was down in the ninth when Lee cracked and allowed the Blues to put on the winning spurt.

The last game was a slug-fest and a one-sided one.

Topped Qualifiers

Scoring a 71 and a 69 for his 36-hole jaunt, Olin Dutra (above), of Santa Monica, Cal., captured the medal for the qualifying round of the Professional Golf Association tourney at St. Paul, Minn. Horton Smith of Chicago was next in line with 144 for the 36 holes.

OHIO FARMERS

ing here said they expected delegations from practically every county in the state.

Should a farm produce strike be called in Ohio, according to leaders of the movement, the flow of food would be stopped to city markets until higher prices have been forced. Inasmuch as the movement appeared to be stronger in the northwestern section of the state than elsewhere, Toledo would probably bear the brunt of the strike efforts.

PLAN PEACEFULNESS

Sponsors of the movement here declared that it would be conducted peacefully.

"No violence will be tolerated whatsoever," Morris Self, of Bowling Green, one of the sponsors of the meeting declared.

The meeting here today was expected to be more in the nature of a round-table discussion of the feasibility of a food-selling strike. Decision as to whether such a strike will be called will probably not be made until a later date and after the delegations attending the meeting here have discussed the matter with farmers in their own neighborhoods throughout the state.

CHEROKEE, Ia., Sept. 2.—The farm strike truce, ordered by national headquarters of the Holiday movement, was ignored today by local strikers throughout western Iowa as their leaders demanded concessions from the authorities before abandoning picketing until after the governors' conference at Sioux City, Sept. 9.

An army of 500 pickets encircled this town, halting all movement of farm produce. Its leaders demand that county authorities promptly arrest the band of men, who shot down twelve farmers and two boys on highways outside the town Tuesday night. They declared the blockade here would be continued until the marauders were in jail.

A second army of 400 farmers blocked the great east and west highway leading into Sioux City, 66 miles south of here.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—A farmers' strike such as that now in progress in the middle west was threatened today in Suffolk-co by potato growers.

Prices for the tubers dropped to 40 cents per 100 pounds, which farmers said, was 20 cents less than the cost of production.

To force prices up, they will consider strike measures tonight at a meeting in Riverhead, N. Y.

PLAN MEET OF 37TH DIVISION

Veterans To Gather in Canton For Three Days Beginning Saturday.

CANTON, Sept. 2.—Approximately 4000 veterans and members of the 37th Division, A. E. F. Veterans Association and their families are expected to attend the annual convention of the organization which meets in this city on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, September 3, 4 and 5th, according to reservations made through the Chamber of Commerce and association officials.

The three day convention will open Saturday with an address of welcome by Mayor James Secome, a 37th Division Veteran, on Sunday. Saturday will be devoted to unit reunions and reestablishment of the association made during the last convention at Montgomery, Ala., where the division dedicated a memorial on the camp site last year.

HOLD MEMORIAL

Memorial services will be held Sunday at the tomb of former President William McKinley, following a parade which will start the march to the tomb at 1:30 p. m. Judge Thomas H. Morrow, president of the association, will preside at the memorial services and following the invocation by the Rev. J. A. O'Connor, Chaplain of the 136th Field Artillery, General Charles Dick, and Major Harry F. MacLane will speak. Governor George White, will address the gathering at the conclusion of the services.

On Monday the annual business meeting of the organization will be held with President Morrow presiding, and then will follow the election of officers for the coming year, and the selection of a convention city for 1933. Cincinnati, Cleveland, Columbus, Toledo, Akron and several other cities in the state are bidding for the convention.

President Morrow, in speaking of the coming convention said that members of the 37th Division A. E. F. Veterans Association have found it profitable to become affiliated with an organization composed of men who served side by side in France and Belgium—men who saw the same sights and heard the same sounds, and urged a great number of chapters throughout the state of Ohio or wherever 37th Division veterans are located.

DERBY

The twenty seventh Gilliland Reunion was held at Shelter House No. 5 Griggs Dam near Columbus August 28. About ninety members of the family were present. The following officers were reelected: Mrs. Alma Hays President; John Gilliland, Vice President; Arma Kirven, Secretary; Parmer Morton Treasurer and Ernest Hill and Lettie Campbell Historians. Seven members have attended all twenty seven reunions, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Bartlett, Mrs. Gladys Jennings, Mrs. May Hill, Mrs. Nelle Baughan, Mrs. Louis Parker and Mr. Walter Graham.

There were two births reported, Joan Turner of Atlanta and Caroline Sue Blessing of Mt. Sterling. There were no deaths or marriages reported. The reunion will be held at the same place next year. Among those from a distance were Mr. John Blessing of Cincinnati; Homer Yates and family of Dayton; Clarence Gilliland and family of Centerburg; Harry Parker and family and Charles Parker of Magnolia.

Mr. and Mrs. Brough Graham and daughters spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ira Liston of Orient.

Mr. and Mrs. Fem Floy are moving to the Blaine property where they formerly resided for several years.

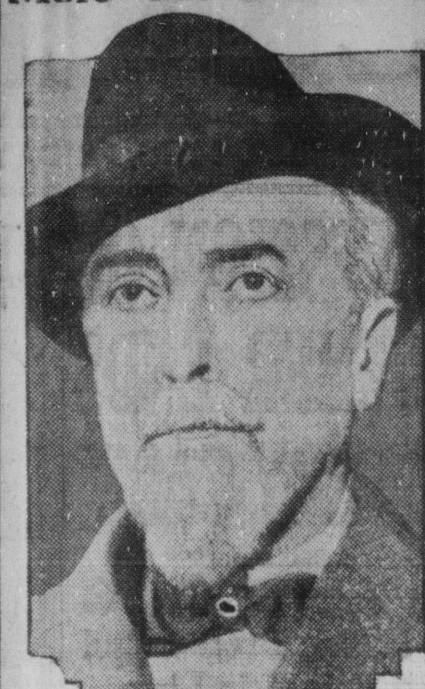

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Parker and sons, Harry and Gene and Mr. Charles Parker of Magnolia are guests of Mrs. Alma Mays.

Young America once walked miles to a schoolhouse. Now it motors miles to a roadhouse.

More Moratoriums?

Visiting the United States under the incognito of "Professor Clarence Skinner," Montague Norman, governor of the Bank of England, is believed on a secret mission, to do with war debts, arising out of the recent "gentlemen's agreement" at Lausanne. It is significant that although Great Britain is due to resume payment of war debts on December 15, no provision has been made for such payment in the British budget.

WALKER

would expire December 31, 1933. He was finishing his second term as mayor.

His resignation was addressed to Michael J. Cruise, city clerk, and read as follows:

"I hereby resign as mayor of the City of New York, the resignation to take effect immediately."

CAUSES SENSATION

It was made public at City Hall at 10:20 o'clock last night and created a sensation.

The mayor's resignation was decided upon after a long conference at his hotel, the Mayfair House, with his chief counsel, John J. Curtin, who defended him before Governor Roosevelt.

Governor Roosevelt had "nothing to say" concerning Walker's resignation of his conduct of the removal proceedings but it was expected he would issue a formal statement today.

Seabury, however, took occasion to issue a sharp attack on the retiring mayor. He said:

"The charges against the mayor were fully proved and corroborated in many instances by the documentary evidence which was undisputed and by the mayor's admissions."

"The mayor's resignation in the face of this record is equivalent to a confession of guilt. No intelligent person will be misled by the mayor's attempt to substitute for a defense an assault upon the good faith and the motives of the legally constituted authority to review his acts while in office.

"It is highly significant that this excuse is availed of by the mayor in the eve of the Governor's inquiry into the relations of the mayor and his fugitive agent, Russell T. Sherwood."

Seabury seemed pleased at the news of Walker's resignation. He smoked a pipe contentedly as he gave the reporters his statement at his town house in East 63rd street.

CONFESSION OF

and when Earl moved, he hit him with the hammer twice more, the youth confessed. Later, officials quoted Loren as saying, Miss Woods threatened to report him and he also killed her.

Weighting their bodies with stones, he threw them into the quarry, according to his questioners. He went home and was not worried over his act. He was quoted as saying, He told police that he planned to confess if anyone else was convicted of the crime.

Loren Truesdale was questioned several times in connection with his brother's death and was taken into custody when police learned that he was unable to account for his whereabouts on the evening of the slaying. He finally broke down and confessed, authorities claimed, after he had been grilled continuously for a night and a day.

He is being held in the county jail here and authorities declared that he would be held for action of the grand jury.

REPEATS DETAILS

Authorities said that Loren was reluctant to talk at first insisting that "I might have killed Earl but I don't remember." He broke down later and calmly repeated details of the killings.

The case several times flared up into an overnight sensation when inmates of penal institutions in the state confessed to the crimes. All later repudiated their confession, however, and declared that they were made so that they could get a "holiday" from the prison where they are serving terms.

"Right this way, if you please, sir!"

Unless you happen to be an invited guest of the British Royal Family, the best way to "see" Windsor Castle is under the convoy of a uniformed guide. In a sing-song patter, he will tell you its history . . . point out things of interest whose full significance would escape the unattended tourist.

It also saves time and shoe-leather to use "guides" when you do your daily marketing at home. These guides are the advertisements in this paper. They tell you where, when, and the equally important "how much."

By consulting the advertisements, you know in advance what the stores have to offer. If you are pressed for time, you can do your shopping by telephone, with the newspaper before you as a definite guide. Read the advertisements . . . the big ones and the little ones.

"Step this way," the advertisements say, saving time and lost motion.

AFTER THE MILK ARRIVES

The milk item in the household food supply has two important aspects. Not only must it be good, safe milk—which really is not difficult to get in these days of rigid milk inspection—but it must be kept good and safe after it comes to the house. This requires knowledge and care—care which is all the more important in the households where milk is needed most.

The household where milk is needed, say the scientists, is one where there are children, and where there may be little variety of other kinds of food. Milk safeguards a restricted diet. It has so many kinds of food value that it can often make up for lack of other foods. But milk spoils easily, because bacteria flourish on the very substances which make it so valuable to human beings.

Some bacteria, especially the lactic acid bacteria, are always present and they are harmless, or at least not checked by low temperature or pasteurization, or both, they cause the milk to sour. On the other hand, milk not properly cared for has been known to carry dangerous kinds of bacteria that cause disease. That is the reason, of course for the rigid inspection of milk by public authorities.

But no amount of public inspection, no amount of care and precaution on the part of the milk producers and milk dealers, can prevent spoilage of milk after it leaves their hands. It is up to the consumer then.

A good general rule for the household is to use milk within a few hours after it is delivered. Or if it is bought at a neighborhood store, don't buy it until just before using, thus leaving it in the refrigerator as long as possible. With a good household refrigerator milk can be kept longer, of course, but a temperature of 45 degrees Fahrenheit or lower is needed, according to the experts, if the milk is to be kept for 24 hours or more. Even the inexpensive little ice chest, however, will keep milk overnight.

Without a refrigerator various devices will delay souring, such as keeping the bottle under a slow drip of tap water, or covering it with clean, damp cloths in some cool dry place. In any case, today's milk will be better than yesterday's milk for drinking, and yesterday's milk, if any is left over, can be made safe by boiling it, or using it in cooking. Cooking destroys the bacteria.

If milk would have to be held several hours before using, and if there is no refrigerator, the Bureau of Home Economics suggests that a good alternative to fresh milk is evaporated milk, which comes in cans small enough to avoid the danger of a left-over portion and which will keep indefinitely in the unopened can. Evaporated milk, moreover, in many places and under many conditions, costs less than fresh milk, yet it contains much the same food values.

For the care of milk, the Bureau of Dairy Industry of the Department of Agriculture has a series of suggestions for consumers. In general, say these authorities, and they put it in capital letters,

"KEEP MILK CLEAN, COVERED, AND COLD." They say also:

Consult the health department before selecting your milk dealer. Buy only bottled milk. Dipped milk is often dirty and lacking in cream.

Take milk into the house as soon as it is delivered, and put it in the refrigerator (or the coolest place in the house) immediately. Bacteria increase rapidly in milk which stands in the sun or warms up, and such milk will sour quickly.

Keep milk in the original bottle in the refrigerator until the moment of service. Milk which has been poured from the bottle should not be returned to it.

Keep the bottle covered with a paper cap or an inverted tumbler to prevent the entrance of flies and dust, which may carry dangerous bacteria into the milk, and to keep the milk from absorbing odors.

Wash milk bottles as soon as emptied, by rinsing first with lukewarm water and then with hot water. If there is an infectious disease in your house, do not return any bottles except with the knowledge of the health department and under conditions which it may prescribe.

Suppose, however, the milk does sour—and this, by the way, will happen to pasteurized milk as well as to raw milk. Many a cook delights in such an opportunity to serve the family with sour-milk biscuits, muffins, corn bread, batter cakes, gingerbread, devil's food cake, or cottage cheese.

To baking, sour milk may be substituted for sweet milk in equal quantities, with soda to neutralize the acid. In the case of thin batters the soda and sour milk is usually furnished in addition. Thus for griddle cakes, 1 cup of sweet milk and 2 teaspoons of baking powder may be replaced by 1 cup of sour milk and a scant half-teaspoon of soda. For biscuits, with the same proportions of sour milk and soda, add 2 teaspoons of baking powder.

RECIPES

Sour Milk Cottage Cheese
1 quart freshly clabbered milk;
1 quart boiling water;
Salt;
Lemon juice.

Pour boiling water over the clabber. Let stand until curd separates. Turn into cheesecloth bag and let hang until whey has drained. Break and moisten curd with 2 tablespoons of melted butter. Season to taste. Sweet or sour cream may be added, for greater smoothness and better flavor.

Gingerbread

1-3 cup fat;
1-2 cup sugar;
1 cup molasses;
1 egg;
3 cups sifted soft-wheat flour;
4 teaspoons baking powder;
1-2 teaspoon soda;
1-2 teaspoon salt;
1 teaspoon ginger;
1-2 teaspoon cloves;
1-2 teaspoon cinnamon;
1 cup milk.

cream together the sugar and fat. Add the molasses and beaten egg. Sift the dry ingredients together twice and add to the first mixture alternately with the milk. Bake in two shallow pans in a moderate oven (350 deg.F.) for 30 to 40 minutes.

One cup of sour milk may be used instead of the sweet milk. In that case, use 1 scant teaspoon of soda in place of the one-half teaspoon now called for, and use only 2 teaspoons of baking powder.

FAMILY FOOD GUIDE TO LOW COST BALANCED DIET

Every meal—Milk for children, bread for all.
Every day—
Cereal in porridge or pudding.
Potatoes.
Tomatoes (or oranges) for children.
A green or yellow vegetable.
A fruit or additional vegetable.
Milk for all.
Two to four times a week—
Beans and peas or peas.
Eggs (especially for children).
A meat, fish, or poultry or cheese.

AFTER THE MILK ARRIVES

The milk item in the household food supply has two important aspects. Not only must it be good, safe milk—which really is not difficult to get in these days of rigid milk inspection—but it must be kept good and safe after it comes to the house. This requires knowledge and care—care which is all the more important in the households where milk is needed most.

The household where milk is needed, say the scientists, is one where there are children, and where there may be little variety of other kinds of food. Milk safeguards a restricted diet. It has so many kinds of food value that it can often make up for lack of other foods. But milk spoils easily, because bacteria flourish on the very substances which make it so valuable to human beings.

Some bacteria, especially the lactic acid bacteria, are always present and they are harmless, out if not checked by low temperature or pasteurization, or both, they cause the milk to sour. On the other hand, milk not properly cared for has been known to carry dangerous kinds of bacteria that cause disease. That is the reason, of course for the rigid inspection of milk by public authorities.

But no amount of public inspection, no amount of care and precaution on the part of the milk producers and milk dealers, can prevent spoilage of milk after it leaves their hands. It is up to the consumer then.

A good general rule for the household is to use milk within a few hours after it is delivered. Or if it is bought at a neighborhood store, don't buy it until just before using, thus leaving it in the refrigerator as long as possible. With a good household refrigerator milk can be kept longer, of course, but a temperature of 45 degrees Fahrenheit or lower is needed, according to the experts; if the milk is to be kept for 24 hours or more, even the inexpensive little ice chest, however, will keep milk overnight.

Without a refrigerator various devices will delay souring, such as keeping the bottle under a slow drip of tap water, or covering it with clean, damp cloths in some cool dry place. In any case, today's milk will be better than yesterday's milk, if any is left over, can be made safe by boiling it, or using it in cooking. Cooking destroys the bacteria.

If milk would have to be held several hours before using, and there is no refrigerator, the Bureau of Home Economics suggests that a good alternative to fresh milk is evaporated milk, which comes in cans small enough to avoid the danger of a left-over portion and which will keep indefinitely in the unopened can. Evaporated milk, moreover, in many places and under many conditions, costs less than fresh milk, yet it contains much the same food values.

For the care of milk, the Bureau of Dairy Industry of the Department of Agriculture has a series of suggestions for consumers. In general, say these authorities, and they put it in capital letters,

"KEEP MILK CLEAN, COVERED, AND COLD." They say also:

Consult the health department before selecting your milk dealer. Buy only bottled milk. Dipped milk is often dirty and lacking in cream.

Take milk into the house as soon as it is delivered, and put it in the refrigerator (or the coolest place in the house) immediately. Bacteria increase rapidly in milk which stands in the sun or warms up, and such milk will sour quickly.

Keep milk in the original bottle in the refrigerator until the moment of service. Milk which has been poured from the bottle should not be returned to it.

Keep the bottle covered with a paper cap or an inverted tumbler to prevent the entrance of flies and dust, which may carry dangerous bacteria into the milk, and to keep the milk from absorbing odors.

Wash milk bottles as soon as emptied, by rinsing first with lukewarm water and then with hot water. If there is an infectious disease in your house, do not return any bottles except with the knowledge of the health department and under conditions which it may prescribe.

Suppose, however, the milk does sour—and this, by the way, will happen to pasteurized milk as well as to raw milk. Many a cook delights in such an opportunity to serve the family with sour-milk biscuits, muffins, corn bread, batter cakes, gingerbread, devil's food cake, or cottage cheese.

In baking, sour milk may be substituted for sweet milk in equal quantities, with soda to neutralize the acid. In the case of thin batters the soda and sour milk is usually furnished in addition. Thus for griddle cakes, 1 cup of sweet milk and 2 teaspoons of baking powder may be replaced by 1 cup of sour milk and a scant half-teaspoon of soda. For biscuits, with the same proportions of sour milk and soda, add 2 teaspoons of baking powder.

RECIPES

Sour Milk Cottage Cheese
1 quart freshly clabbered milk;
1 quart boiling water;
Salt;
Pepper.
Pour boiling water over the clabber. Let stand until curd separates. Turn into cheesecloth bag and let hang until whey has drained. Break and moisten curd with 2 tablespoons of melted butter. Season to taste. Sweet or sour cream may be added, for greater smoothness and better flavor.

Gingerbread

1-3 cup fat;
1-2 cup sugar;
1 cup molasses;
1 egg;
3 cups sifted soft-wheat flour;
4 teaspoons baking powder;
1-2 teaspoon soda;
1-2 teaspoon salt;
1 teaspoon ginger;
1-2 teaspoon cloves;
1-2 teaspoon cinnamon;
1 cup milk.
Cream together the sugar and fat. Add the molasses and beaten egg. Sift the dry ingredients together twice and add to the first mixture alternately with the milk. Bake in two shallow pans in a moderate oven (350 deg.F.) for 30 to 40 minutes.

One cup of sour milk may be used instead of the sweet milk. In that case, use 1 scant teaspoon of soda in place of the one-half teaspoon now called for, and use only 2 teaspoons of baking powder.

Fewer Auto Fatalities

WHERE motorists, pedestrians, the police and a multitude of agencies failed the depression seems to have succeeded in considerable measure. That is in the reduction of automobile fatalities.

Deaths from automobile accidents are running 9 per cent behind last year, and it can be attributed only to the thinning out of traffic by hard times, which have reduced motoring for pleasure to a minimum.

Eighty-six cities during the year that ended on August 6 reported 8,447 traffic fatalities, as compared with 9,255 for the preceding 12 months. This is a drop of 10 per cent in the death rate per 100,000 population.

Only one of the cities, Albany, reported a higher fatality rate. Six reported no deaths. El Paso, Texas, reported the heaviest drop, 46 per cent.

This analysis proves conclusively that traffic accidents and fatalities increase with the density of traffic. Congestion is the real culprit, and as long as city streets and country roads carry more traffic than they were designed for, there is little that can be done in the way of accident prevention.

When prosperity returns bringing with it another tidal wave of traffic, cities and states will have to take up anew the costly problem of widening the main arteries of traffic and of providing freight highways for the rapidly swelling stream of motor trucks. It is not so much a matter of convenience and speed as of human life.

Uncle Sam's Role

NOW that the Ottawa conference is over one detects another reason besides lack of membership in the British commonwealth of nations why Uncle Sam was not invited to attend, although he had a vital interest in the negotiations. It isn't customary to invite the appointed scapegoat to join the party.

It was decided up there that since Australia, New Zealand and South Africa owe England a lot of money and since England is carrying several European nations on her books for large sums, and since England owes Uncle Sam several times more than the total owing her, it is up to Uncle Sam to write off the British debt so England can cancel the debts of the dominions. A happy thought, indeed, for the British commonwealth of nations.

Nor is that they would do to Uncle Sam. Tally would make it easier for him to cancel all debts by buying from each other instead of from him. Yes, the only contribution they ask of him is the forfeiture of some hundreds of millions of dollars and some more hundreds of millions of dollars.

Day by day in every way his former allies are making it easier and easier for big-hearted Uncle Sam to refuse to come to their rescue the next time they get themselves neck deep in trouble.

No doubt the striking farmers, who were dispersed by tear gas while raiding a train will join the howlers for the rights of man.

"MURDER of the NIGHT CLUB LADY"

THE NEW THATCHER COLT DETECTIVE MYSTERY

BY ANTHONY ABBOT

COPYRIGHT, 1931, BY COWLEY-FRIEDLE, INC. PUBLISHED BY KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, INC.

SYNOPSIS

Lola Carewe, night club habituée, receives a death threat. New Year's Eve. Previously her dog and parrot were mysteriously killed. District Attorney Merle K. Dougherty suspects Lola of being the "brains" of the jewel thief ring that has baffled the police. Although her husband, Gaylord Gifford, died practically penniless, Lola lives in luxury. Police Commissioner Thatcher Colt places a guard in Lola's penthouse apartment, warning her that she must not be alone in a room at any time. Mrs. Carewe, Lola's mother; Chung the butler, Eunice the maid, and Vincent Rowland, an attorney, are present. In the living room, the Commissioner finds a bag belonging to Christine Quires, Lola's guest. It evidently had been used that night, yet Lola informs Colt that Christine is at the Lion's Paw, a roadhouse, where Lola was to have joined her. Colt is surprised to find Mrs. Carewe's room in strange contrast to the surrounding wealth. Lola's own boudoir is a gaudy contradiction of the living room's elegance. Lola refuses to reveal the identity of the young man whose photograph adorns her dresser. Against orders, she enters the guest room alone. A scream follows. Rushing in, Colt finds her on the floor, unconscious. Dr. Hugh Baldwin, a friend, diagnoses the case as a heart attack.

CHAPTER NINE

COLT, who had stood with folded arms and knitted brows, turned to the butler, and unexpectedly asked:

"Chung, do you know if Miss Lola Carewe was right-handed or left-handed?"

"Right-handed," answered Chung, with prompt and urbane assurance. "I am left-handed. That makes me observe other people's hands. Miss Lola was right-handed."

At a word of dismissal from Colt, the butler then left, closing the door after him.

"I am concerned," Colt declared, "about her bathrobe."

"What about it, Thatcher?" asked Dougherty, moving forward, with a vague glance at the garment.

"The way it is buttoned, for one thing."

Both Dougherty and I looked again at the dressing-robe, as did the now deeply mystified and nervous Doctor Baldwin. None of us noticed anything peculiar about the way it was buttoned.

"You see for yourselves," pursued Colt, "it is a double-breasted dressing-robe buttoned on the right side. We all know when a man puts on any kind of garment, he buttons it invariably on the right side. The important thing is that women always reverse the procedure. It has been my experience that no woman ever buttons her coat, pyjamas or other apparel from left to right, unless the buttons on the left side have been torn away or if she is left-handed. Chung says that Lola was right-handed. Look at her coat."

Colt's acute observation had indeed found here a singular variation from the normal. Lola's body was sheathed in a bath-robe buttoned after the manner of a man. Dougherty gave a low gasp.

"I see what you mean. Perhaps it was put on her by someone else. Amos someone else made the natural mistake of reversal because he was facing his victim! But why, Thatcher, why?"

"Victim! I've heard enough of this talk!" exclaimed Doctor Baldwin. "What is going on here? It all seems very peculiar."

Thatcher Colt regarded the physician with a stern gaze.

"Doctor Baldwin," he began, "you have given it as your opinion that Lola Carewe is suffering from a heart attack. And yet—if you will pardon a layman's groping—in a heart attack the patient invariably feels suffocated and flushed. Am I not right, doctor?"

"Absolutely right!" agreed Baldwin, with an aggrieved glare. He had paled noticeably.

"Yet again," pursued the chief, "here we find a girl supposed to have a heart attack, but clad in a warm robe, and in an apartment that is noticeably overheated. That, I agree with you, is peculiar."

"Perhaps," admitted the physician with a grudging air.

"Further," pursued Colt, "that livid glow on the face which is visible even under this girl's make-up—is that curious coloring a symptom of heart trouble?"

"Not a common one, but—"

"It might be a suspicious factor, mightn't it?"

Baldwin's pallor deepened.

"Suspicious?"

"Is it not true," prodded Colt, "that in certain types of poisoning, this flush appears?"

The strong fingers of Doctor Baldwin's great right hand tightened around the frail wrist in his grasp.

"Mr. Commissioner, I must insist upon knowing if there is any reason for these suspicious?" he demanded.

"The color!" prodded Colt impatiently. "Isn't it possibly a symptom of poisoning?"

The physician hesitated, then barked his reply.

"It is one of the phenomena of carbon monoxide poisoning,—but wouldn't that be impossible here?"

Followed a long, ominous silence. Doctor Baldwin stood unmoving and speechless, as no one replied to his question. Then the physician heaved a deep and resigned sigh. With an air of finality, he let Lola's wrist fall from his hand down to the bed, lifelessly.

"I arrived too late," he announced solemnly. "This lady is dead."

With sombre eyes, Thatcher Colt stared unseeing at the pale and haggard face of Doctor Hugh Baldwin. Then, with a slight frown, the Commissioner turned briskly and looked to the window. Raising it he looked out and down into the abyss of storm, darkness, and a straight drop of twenty-three stories to the sidewalk. One glance and he brought down the window hurriedly.

"Tony—get Mackenzie. He's on the terrace."

In less than a minute I was back with the detective who looked with solemn eyes at the unmoving body on the bed.

"Mackenzie," ordered Colt in a brittle voice, "get downstairs as quick as you can. Get under this window. See what you can find that might have been thrown from this window. Look for broken glass—anything."

"Right away, chief"—and Mackenzie was gone.

"What is that for?" asked Doctor Baldwin vaguely.

"You say it's heart-trouble. I don't believe it. I believe it's poison. By that I mean it's murder—and I'm going to proceed accordingly."

At these words from Thatcher Colt, I was suddenly conscious of the solemn situation in which we found ourselves. The woman who had appealed to us for protection now lay dead at the feet of the Police Commissioner. Not all his care, his guards and admonitions, had served to avert her mysterious fate.

At the hour named, Lola Carewe had died—on schedule! Colt was right—it could not be a coincidence.

Dougherty clasped his fat red hands behind his back and stalked over beside Colt. Instinctively, I too moved back from the bed, leaving the physician and the Police Commissioner standing face to face. Baldwin spoke first, his words coming unsteadily as if the intensity of Colt's gaze unsettled him.

"If what you say is true, a police autopsy should be performed," announced Baldwin throatily. "My personal belief is that this is a case of heart failure. But after the insinuations voiced here in the last ten minutes, I must insist on a medico-legal verdict—after a complete autopsy."

And the physician wiped his forehead with a large, silk handkerchief.

"It will take more than an autopsy," declared Dougherty, "to solve all the mysteries of this woman's death."

"I am going to ask you to remain here, doctor," snapped Thatcher Colt briskly, "until the Medical Examiner arrives. Mind?"

"Quite all right, sir."

As the doctor turned from the bed to reclaim his hat, I saw Colt bend swiftly over the bed, lift a gleaming object from the bag, unobserved by Baldwin, and put it away in the breast pocket of his coat. A moment later he calmly turned and asked the medical man to wait in the living-room and quietly closed the door upon him.

Neglect of First Teeth May Cause Disfigurement

Loss of the Six-Year Molars May Throw the Mouth Out of Position.

By Royal S. Copeland, M. D.
United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health,
New York City.

IT is claimed by the American Dental Association and endorsed by the medical profession that cleanliness of the teeth plus a wholesome diet, will prevent many of the diseases of childhood, as well as the ailments of later life. Arthritis, rheumatism, heart disease, kidney and lung disease, it is believed, may be traced to infected and neglected teeth.

Many of the diseases of adult life could be prevented by proper attention to and care of the teeth during childhood. Unfortunately, most parents believe that the temporary teeth require little attention. This is a false notion. When the temporary teeth are neglected and infection occurs, the permanent teeth will suffer in a similar way.

I cannot say too much about the importance of having every child receive thorough dental examinations. Such an examination, certainly, should be made prior to the return to school. If the teeth require dental care, such as filling cavities, cleaning and straightening, it should be given without delay.

Care of Temporary Teeth

When the temporary teeth have been neglected to such an extent that they are beyond the stage of repair, they should be removed. Extraction of infected temporary teeth will insure the child better general health and a stronger set of permanent teeth.

Too many parents fail to realize the seriousness of dental decay in young children. Though most adults admit the importance of periodic visits to the dentist for the preservation and care of their teeth, they fail to understand that this practice is equally important for the child and young adult.

Here is a thing I want you to remember: Undernourishment, stunted growth, facial disfigurement and many constitutional diseases of children are caused by neglect of the temporary teeth.

Children who have had teeth may be sufferers in later life from such troublesome disorders as neuritis, poor vision, rheumatism, paralysis, heart disease, kidney disease, indigestion and other disturbances. These changes are caused by the gradual absorption of the poison that enters the system from germs and dirt located in the mouth.

The Six-Year Molars

The future health of your child depends upon the care and attention that the temporary and the first permanent teeth receive. The first of the permanent teeth hold the jaws in shape until the rest of the permanent teeth are cut.

These teeth are frequently referred to as the "keystones of the mouth." They are the most important of the teeth. They usually appear when the child is six years of age. On this account they are known as the "six-year molars."

These particular teeth should never be neglected. If a cavity forms and infection occurs the child may lose one of them. When this happens the entire mouth is thrown out of position. The permanent teeth that follow after such a disaster will come in unevenly. In consequence the expression and appearance of the child's face will be altered. Loss of the first permanent teeth encourages infection of the remaining teeth.

That Old Hindenburg Line!

MOVIES

AT THE CLIFTONA

Come on, you rooters!

The big game of the "Prison Conference" is coming Sunday at the Cliftona Theatre where Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey are co-starring in the RKO-Radio Comedy, "Hold 'Em Jail," with Edna May Oliver, Edgar Kennedy, Roscoe "Stuttering" Ates and Betty Grable in the featured cast.

Wheeler and Woolsey are mainstays of the Eklidmore convicted line. Miss Oliver, Kennedy and Miss Grable cheer them on to victory. In the stands also is Ates, cheated out of play in the great game by a governor's pardon.

Bands play and rooting sections cheer and sing their Alma Mater songs with all of the dash and fire of collegiate undergraduates while football such as has never been seen on a university gridiron is dished out of the field of battle.

Among the bigskin gladiators who participate in the "prison classic" are such former college stars as All American Ernie Pinkert, Marshall Duffield, Norm Dunca, Jim Musick and Roy Baker.

Norman Taurog directed the picture, which was inspired by the exploits of a penitentiary football team.

fer, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hedges, Miss Anna Pontius, Mr. and Mrs. W. I. Spangler and family, D. W. Macklin. During the business meeting Miss Anna Pontius was elected President. Mrs. Lutz, Vice President and Nellie Kuhn, Treasurer. The reunion will be held next year at Salt Creek school building in August.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Mauger, daughters Gwendolyn and Emily Ann and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Chambers, daughters Mary, Alma and Phyllis, sons Oliver and Walter Ray were delightfully entertained Friday evening by Mr. and Mrs. Fred Drum and family, the occasion being Mr. Drum's birthday anniversary. Ice cream and cake was served later in the evening.

Miss Minnie DeLong spent the week-end at Buckeye Lake. Little Miss Juanita Fox of Oakland is visiting this week with Perry Aldenderfer and family of Salt Creek valley.

Mrs. Myrtle Reichelderfer was entertained at a dinner party at the home of Mrs. Floyd Dunlap, Thursday.

Peck Palmer has opened a harness and shoe repair shop in Tarlton.

Mrs. Myrtle Reichelderfer is spending the week in Columbus and will attend the State Fair.

Miss Mabel Aldenderfer was the guest of her sister, Miss Lucile Aldenderfer at Kingston, last week.

Messrs. George and Will Myers and families of Columbus, Mrs. Allan Low of Circleville, Charles Kreider and wife of Gibsonville, former residents of this place, were here Sunday attending the Crites reunion.

Orsie Pritchard of Circleville, was here, Monday.

ODD ROLE NETS FORTUNE

DENVER.—A quarter of a million dollar estate was the reward given Mrs. George W. Ristine who for twenty years played the part of a daughter to the late Mrs. Kate M. Rogers, widow of Henry Treat Rogers, pioneer Denver attorney and banker. Mrs. Rogers died more than a year ago. Mrs. Rogers, the will disclosed, wanted children of her own, but denied this, she was grateful to Mrs. Ristine, her niece, for acting the part of a daughter.

The Daily Horoscope

Friday, September 2, 1932

According to astrology this is a day of much activity and pleasant surprise for those who can exercise their creative energies. Important developments may be looked for in scientific circles relative to improved methods associated with the field of sports and mechanical devices in the movie industry.

Discoveries are also likely to be made which will benefit manufacturers in electrical apparatus, automobile and transportation industries. The vibrations of the stars today incline to short cuts and the aspects favor ingenuity business acumen and industrious efforts for matters already started. Patents may be sought, interviews and conferences held with heads of investigation departments of the auto, rail, air plane accessory and electrical industries. Ideas may be exchanged successfully and plans easily comprehended.

Mail order and department stores should have placed their advertisements today relative to radio accessories, mechanical appliances and it is also an auspicious time to look over new lines on mechanical toys, for the coming holidays.

The stars indicate much interest to be centered on river, lake and harbor extension, but financial questions and complications may arise.

During the next few weeks, a noted criminal case is likely to come up in the California region. Fires and accidents are likely to occur in England and the King may be much troubled over internal affairs, as well as by new problems arising in Scotland.

Persons born the last week in February, and November are warned of insincerity and underhandedness on the part of their so called friends. Chance acquaintance may lead to disappointment and undesirable situations.

Financial disputes are likely to arise among the contending political factors criticizing governmental affairs in Washington. Much excitement is likely to come up through women in legislation.

Children born on this day should be skilful and have much love for luxurious surroundings. The subjects of this sign of Virgo usually possess strong intellectual faces and clear cut features.

Eugene Field, poet and journalist, was born on this day, 1859. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Henry George, 1839, political economist, Hiram W. Johnson, 1866, United States senator.

"Spooks" to Invade Cliftona Theater

Above is the actor, Bela Lugosi, and the character he plays is Count Dracula in the most startling of all plays or pictures—"Dracula." Bram Stoker, the famous English novelist, wrote it first as a novel—this terrifying narration of an "undead" being who rises from his grave at night and through his horrible influence brings death and suffering to his victims.

The picture is to be shown Saturday at 11:30 p. m. at the Cliftona theater. In addition to the feature, "Dracula," there will be a stage show featuring Aladin. Aladin will present a spook party, including spirit stage writing, talking skulls and handkerchiefs turning into snakes.

The standard price of 25 cents will be charged. Tickets may be purchased from 10:00 o'clock on and the program starts at 11:30 o'clock. Prepare to be scared.

This is a road show attraction and will be shown at the midnight matinee. Play safe and buy your tickets when the tickets go on sale at 10 o'clock.

U. B. MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETS

A pleasant informal meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the United Brethren church was held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Ralph Long of E. Franklin-st. The service opened with devotional readings in charge of Mrs. Abbie Gusman, the subject being the introduction to the theme for the year "Launch Out into the Deep."

The president, Mrs. Long, conducted a short business session. It was decided to invite Mrs. Harry Johnson of Wellston, to be the speaker for Woman's Day, the last Sunday in October. After other business transactions, the meeting was turned over to Mrs. Gusman secretary of stewardship, who was the program leader for the evening. Her subject was "Three Fold Stewardship."

Mrs. Mary Milliron read a very interesting leaflet entitled "The Stewardship of the Home." This was followed by a helpful and inspiring talk by Mrs. Ross Kirkpatrick upon "The Stewardship of the Church."

Mrs. Fannie Greeno then sang, "Jesus Savior Pilot Me."

The third reading, in the series upon Stewardship, "Stewardship in the Community" was given by Mrs. Bertha Walker.

An interesting story "Digging Potatoes" was told by Miss Elanthe Ryan.

The concluding number was the beautiful candle light consecration service by Mrs. Gusman assisted by Mrs. Kirkpatrick and Miss Nellie McCollister.

A happy social hour followed, during which dainty refreshments were served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. Ellen Hegge and Mrs. Greeno.

FAY WEBB VALLEE A VALLEE VALEDICTION BROADCASTING SAX APPEARS

For the second time romance has turned to ashes on Rudy Vallee, celebrated radio crooner and band leader, whose marriage to Fay Webb, Santa Monica, Cal., beauty, a little over a year ago caused a furore among the crooner's millions of women fans. Though the news of the Vallee's impending divorce comes as a surprise to most people, it has long been expected by those close to the couple. The reason for the split-up is not one of the usual divorce court pleas. There is no charge of neglect or cruelty, nor is there the inevitable "other woman." According to the attorney who represents both parties, Rudy and his wife are parting for reasons "geographical rather than emotional." To explain, Fay is a daughter of California who never took kindly to the East. Several times since she became the envy of womanhood by marrying the megaphone crooner, whose voice is a caress, Mrs. Vallee has fled to her beloved West Coast away from the sometimes cold, foggy, depressing Atlantic seaboard. At such times there were rumors of friction between the couple, but Rudy always stifled such reports by insisting that Fay had his full consent to such walk-outs. Then when Fay remained in the East she saw very little of her hubby. Radio, theatre and dance engagements claimed practically every minute of his time and wife was left to survey the furnishings in their palatial New York apartment. Now Fay says she can no longer tolerate the East, and, as Rudy's life and ambitions are bound up here, there is nothing left for the couple but to go separate ways. The crooner's first wife was Leonie Cauchois McCov, coffee heiress who obtained an annulment after three weeks of wedded life.

Did You Ever Stop To Think—

A business that isn't worth advertising isn't worth patronizing. Merchants who have a vision of bigger business are persistent advertisers. Those with no vision do not advertise; they don't remain in business long.

It always pays to read the ads before you buy because you can always find advertised the best at a fair price.

Merchants who sell good merchandise advertise that fact, and then back up their ads.

Everyone should shop carefully and find good goods at right prices. Cheap goods, no matter what the price cause the loss of confidence.

Advertising is a great factor in the race for business. The merchant who keeps honest goods at honest prices and advertises that fact is always in the race.

Merchants who are proud of their business, who have quality, right prices and service tell it by advertising.

Did You Ever Stop To Think—

A business that isn't worth advertising isn't worth patronizing. Merchants who have a vision of bigger business are persistent advertisers. Those with no vision do not advertise; they don't remain in business long.

It always pays to read the ads before you buy because you can always find advertised the best at a fair price.

Merchants who sell good merchandise advertise that fact, and then pass up their ads.

Everyone should shop carefully and find good goods at right prices. Cheap goods, no matter what the price, cause the loss of confidence.

Advertising is a great factor in the race for business. The merchant who keeps honest goods at honest prices and advertises that fact is always in the race.

Merchants who are proud of their business, who have quality, right prices and service tell it by advertising.
